ASK SETBACK ALONG SAN FERNANDO HIGHWAY

Widening of Boulevard Is Necessary for Traffic Say Property Owners

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Member of Evening News Staff

THE meeting of property owners along San Fernando road, held last night in the Cerritos avenue school, for the purpose of considering the proposed widening of this artery of traffic, resulted in a resolution being adopted expressing it as the sense of the meeting that the City Council have an ordinance put through declaring a ten-foot "setback line" on both sides of the street, the entire length of San Fernando road from Burbank city limits to Los Angeles city limits.

The motion was made by Dr. William C. Mabry, at 9:50 o'clock, after nearly two hours of argument that was sometimes heated and sometimes amusing, but always polite. Frowns mingled with smiles, as the various speakers had their say, sometimes becoming personal, but never offensively so, and frequently pausing to fire a volley of questions at County Supervisor Wright, Manager William H. Reeves or Councilman C. E. Kimlin.

Two Main Points

The main points at issue were:

1—The widening of San Fernando road for five blocks in the heart of the congested district between Glendale avenue and Los Feliz road.

2—The paving of San Fernando road from Los Feliz road to Pacific avenue.

Secretary Charles J. Griffin of the San Fernando Improvement association pointed out in his remarks that the purpose of the gathering was to consider a protest that had been registered in the form of a petition against the widening proceedings that have been instituted.

Mr. Griffin brought out that it was not planned to actually start widening proceedings at this time, but, inasmuch as condemnation proceedings took over two years to put through, it was felt by property owners that a start should be made. And, furthermore, Mr. Griffin pointed out, it was felt advisable to establish a ten-foot setback line all along San Fernando road, to prevent buildings being erected on the property line, necessitating great additional expense in condemnation costs when the time came actually to widen the road.

Takes Two Years

Mr. Griffin pointed out that, in fact, widening proceedings would probably not be started for two years or more, it being desirable to wait until the road needed paving first, so as to combine the two operations.

From Los Feliz to Pacific avenue, Mr. Griffin stated, on San Fernando road, there are only one or two property line brick structures at the present time, but that in another year or two, if a setback line is not established, the cost of widening the road will be prohibitive, owing to new structures that will be erected.

County Supervisor Wright, who addressed the assemblage, advised property owners to do everything within reason to hold the present traffic flow on San Fernando road. In this connection he mentioned Riverside drive, on the Los Angeles side of the river, which is to be a serious competitor as a traffic artery into the metropolis.

Sea Sickness Is Sure Cure For Non-Stop Dance

NEW YORK, April 25.—Found—One thing that can stop "non-stop dancing. Sea sickness.

Those eight intrepid couples who started a "six-day dancing match" Monday midnight were at home today recuperating following the untimely end of the marathon.

They did not know the Atlantic was so rough. After dancing twelve hours in New York, they toddled by craft to beyond the three-mile limit to avoid police action and were going nicely when one by one they began slumping to the floor or into chairs—and the so-called six day dancing event was off.

HUNDREDS RALLY AROUND BONFIRE

Broadway School Grounds Scene of Celebration for Play Week

A crowd of 400 Glendalians gathered last night in the flickering light of a mammoth bonfire on the Broadway school grounds for one of the big-get-together events of the local "Play Week" celebration.

The affair was arranged by the school Parent-Teachers association and the Fathers' club and so enthusiastically was the idea received that three times as many people attended as were anticipated.

Fuel had been gathered and piled eight feet high for the big bonfire. As the company arrived automobiles were drawn up in a circle about the pile of fuel in order that the headlights might furnish light for the scene.

Because of the size of the crowd it was impossible to carry out the program of games arranged; however, a piano was at hand and the game leaders in readiness to promote a happy spirit of informal sociability.

Legion Men Sing

The most enjoyable feature was the singing by Col. James W. Everington, R. E. Tucker and a group of Glendale Legion men. They arrived in automobiles and to the accompaniment of stringed instruments sang and also led in community singing.

"It was the spirit of the old days," said Mrs. W. R. Wichert, Parent-Teachers' Association president, this morning. "Although the crowd was larger than we expected, everyone had a happy time and I am grateful for all those assisting in making the affair such a success."

Those assisting Mrs. Wichert were: W. C. Wyckoff of the Fathers' club; Misses Farner and Speik of the school faculty; Mrs. McDowell, Mrs. Stumbaugh, Mrs. Scharnikow, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, R. M. Ferguson, Charles Larson, Mr. Dampf, Col. J. W. Everington, R. E. Tucker and the Legion men.

Hays To Run Harding's '24 Campaign, Report

NEW YORK, April 25.—Will Hays today declined to comment on renewed reports that he would resign as executive director of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America to manage President Harding's campaign for re-election. The report was revived when Hays spent two hours yesterday with the president at his suite at the Waldorf. The president talked also with John T. Adams, present Republican national chairman, and Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman from New York.

EXTRADITION FOR CLARA PHILLIPS STARTS

Requisition to Be Given to Governor Tomorrow; New Escape Story

SACRAMENTO, April 25.—The governor's office received a telegram from the Los Angeles district attorney's office today stating that the requisition for the extradition of Clara Phillips, escaped hammer murderess will be presented to Governor Richardson here tomorrow morning.

Application will probably be made for the return of Jesse Carsen, companion of the woman held in Honduras on suspicion of being Mrs. Phillips, at the same time, attaches of the governor's office stated.

Joseph Vickers, private secretary to Goveror Richardson, stated that the international extradition papers will be sent to the state department at Washington without delay following their approval by the state executive.

Has Story of Break

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—Another "inside story" of how Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," now held in Honduras, escaped from the county jail here last December 5, was scheduled to be told the district attorney's office today by J. D. Fenton, county jail "trusty," while Mrs. Phillips was a prisoner. The offer to reveal all the facts immediate to Mrs. Phillips's getaway, as known by Fenton, was made by Harry McKenzie, San Francisco attorney, who says he has a complete statement of the facts as told him by his client.

Fenton was held here on a bad check charge, but was released a week after Mrs. Phillips escaped. A short time later he was arrested in San Francisco on a similar charge. Fenton, in the meantime, has been returned here to face the first charge.

Whether Fenton can really shed any light on the case or merely confirm details of the escape as already gathered, was eagerly awaited by Deputy District Attorney James Costello, who will question Fenton.

J. F. SHULTZ WINS PRIZE BY VOTERS

Painter Receives Largest Total In Popularity Contest Over 'Art Works

The ballots in the Glendale Art association "Popularity Contest" have been counted, states Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the association, and the result can now be announced.

J. F. Shultz, the painter, received the largest number of votes, winning first place in the esteem of his fellow citizens.

Second place stands tied between H. C. Swartz, the sculptor, and Jeannette Herrick, the miniature painter.

Commenting on the results of the contest, Mrs. Ballagh says that her regret is there weren't enough pictures to go around, and that is the only reason every shop in town didn't have a picture on exhibit.

At Public Library

An interesting exhibit is now hung in the juvenile department of the public library, under the auspices of the Glendale Art association, loaned through the courtesy of Mrs. Dr. Nichols, of Doran street. The exhibit comprises over a dozen pictures, one of them a Redman.

The officials of the Glendale Art association, as at present constituted are—Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president; H. C. Swartz, first vice-president; Miss Anna McIntyre, second vice-president; Miss Alice Livsey, treasurer; and Mrs. L. C. Beach, secretary.

The executive board comprises L. T. Rowley, chairman; and Alexander Mitchell, John W. Cotton and Walter L. Cheever.

Mrs. H. C. Swartz is curator of the association; and the jury that sits on pictures submitted in the various exhibits and contests comprises John W. Cotton, H. C. Swartz, and Walter L. Cheever.

Protest To Russians On Seizure Of Ship

LONDON, April 25.—Great Britain is sending a serious communication to Russia regarding offenses against British subjects such as the seizure of British fishing trawlers, Under Foreign Secretary Ronald MacNeill told the House of Commons this afternoon. The under secretary was greeted with cheers as he added:

"The series of acts perpetrated by the Russians seriously affects our relations with Russia. The British representative at Moscow is continuing to protest."

This Egg Story Breaks Them All—Hard or Soft

HERE'S an egg story that has them all stopped, and requires the services of a higher mathematician to figure out the problems in spherical geometry involved, to say nothing of integral calculus. Three hens, belonging to young Robert Reinhard, severally and collectively laid four eggs in one day, and Robert says he can prove it to the satisfaction of anyone who will call on him at his home, 543 Glenwood road. And then, as though that weren't a good enough egg story for one issue, he deposes and states that another of his feathered pets recently laid two eggs of large calibre, sizes 7 1-2 by 6 inches and 7 1-4 by 5 7-8 inches respectively—and from a trouser pocket, after much exertion, he produces said spheroids, much to the general amazement, still intact.

STIRRING DRAMA FEATURES PARTY

Burlesque at School Party Pronounced Success By Spectators

A nameless burlesque, which was a "howling success," according to several hundred spectators, was a feature of the neighborhood party last night in the court of the Pacific school, under the auspices off Community Service.

The "mellerdramer" was read by Mrs. Mae Rosenberg of 462 Riverdale drive, who also led the singing at the commencement of the program. Miss Muriel P. Wilson of 459 West Harvard street and Miss Mary L. Circle of 448 West Maple street personified the curtains. When they parted the fun commenced. Mrs. Margaret D. Longley of 431 West Harvard street then came in and hung up the sun.

The heroine was Mrs. Ethel S. Carpenter of 508 Burchett street, who played the part of Cordelia. She swept majestically into the room with a broom.

The villain, L. T. Rowley, or rather L. T. Rowley of 334 Vine street, the villain, entered early and began to make faces at Cordelia. She appealed to his better nature by peeling a banana and handing it to him. He ate the banana and handed the skin back with the remark: "Your appeal is fruitless."

The villain then devoted his attention to grinding his teeth—with a small coffe grinder, stamping his feet by affixing postage stamps to the soles of his shoes and crossing the room by marking crosses in chalk upon the floor.

Passage of Time

Mrs. Jessie Hunt of 459 West Maple street carried a clock across the room to signify the passage of time. Miss Margaret Taylor of 549 Spencer Place, who played the part of Cinderella, the servant, entering tearing up a large sheet of paper marked stairs to let everybody know that she had been tearing down the stairs.

The hero was none other than R. E. Tucker of 306 East Harvard street, who took the part of "Launcelot, the Dragon Slayer." He entered and assaulted the villain by sprinkling him with the contents of a salt shaker. The villain cringed and, while he was bathing his face in tears from a basin, the hero pressed the heroine's hand with a flat iron and led her off the stage with a rope.

The serious portion of the program consisted of several solos by Miss Wilma Kulp and her sister, Miss Fances Kulp of 355 Vine street. Miss Margueritte Chappell of 338 Vine street accompanied them. The evening concluded with the playing of games by the "neighbors."

HARDING TO PUT PEACE IN PARTY AGAIN

President, With Views On Court Expressed, Seeks To Patch Split

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Having cast the die of war in his fight for American participation in the international court, President Harding returned to Washington today to face a series of conferences with republican leaders, many of whom are hostile to the program as outlined and urged by him in his New York speech.

Fearing a hopeless split in the republican party as a result of the president's flat and unequivocal advocacy of the world court proposal, administration leaders in the senate, such as Lodge of Massachusetts and Watson of Indiana, are still hopeful of getting Mr Harding to "back down" in such a degree that an open break can be averted.

Plans for Peace

Senator Lodge, disappointed because the president demanded the acceptance of his court plan by the senate in the face of bitter opposition within his own party, but still loyal to the executive, planned to call at the White House at the first opportunity to see what can be done to patch up the widening rupture.

Despite the efforts that will be made, however, to reach a compromise with the president with a view to adjusting the differences in the party, the feeling prevailed today among many republican leaders that Mr. Harding had gone so far in his New York speech that it would now be impossible to head off an open break.

Among Republican senators who led the fight in the senate against the League of Nations, some satisfaction was expressed because the president took pains to make it

DISTRIBUTE CAKE ON WEDDING EVE

Royal Couriers Bear Gifts to London's Poor From Duke of York

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, April 25.—Royal couriers were busy today distributing a hundred thousand pieces of wedding cake among poor children in honor of the marriage tomorrow of the Duke of York, son of King George and Queen Mary, and Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon. These pieces did not all come from one cake, but from many huge cakes baked especially for this occasion. It was upon the duke's orders that the poor children were treated.

The duke also has ordered that a portion of the nuptial cake be used for charitable purposes.

King George and the queen will entertain again this afternoon while the duke's brothers will give a party in his honor.

Weather prospects for tomorrow are not favorable. A cold driving rain set in from the Atlantic. A raw wind swept the city and the sky was foggy. It is feared that the storm will last over Thursday.

Many visitors are arriving from the overseas dominions and the provinces. Americans are remaining in London in hope of getting a view of the young couple as they pass between Buckingham palace and Westminster abbey.

At Lady Elizabeth's request, the same marriage service will be be used as at Princess Mary's wedding.

Officials to Confer On Water Problems

The inspecion trip that was made yesterday by Mayor Spencer Robinson, City Manager W. H. Reeves, Councilman Asa Hall and W. A. Horn, Peter Diederich, plant superintendent, and George Woodbury, representing the Verdugo Canyon Water company, resulted in the confirmation of the report that a number of wells are being drilled in the watershed from which Glendale draws its waters, and to which, it is claimed, the city has prior rights by virtue of a court decision issued a number of years ago. A conference will be held tomorrow with the representatives of one of the persons drilling one of these wells, and it is hoped that the city authorities may reach some decision in the matter without going into court to secure a new ruling on the points involved.

The two new members of the council were also given a more detailed knowledge of the city's water problems and the course it is following than they had before.

Find 'Superman' At University Of California

BERKELEY, Calif., April 25.—The "super-man" has been found. Annually the physical education department of the University of California holds tests for the "perfect man."

This year George S. Reed was the winner—only two points off a perfect score and four points better than any previous "super-man" in the five years the contest has been held.

There are five determining events—boxing, 100 yard dash, broad jumping, 20 yard swimming sprint and rescue swimming event.

Reed registered perfectly in all but the 20 yard swim in which he was off two points.

ST. MARK'S MENS' CLUB HAS SOCIAL

Musical Program Is Feature of Meeting; Police Head Makes Address

A highly enjoyable program was provided last night by the St. Mark's Men's club, in the Guild hall of the church, and was enjoyed by a very appreciative audience.

The Shrine Club orchestra played several musical selections that proved exceedingly popular, and the committee in charge of the meeting wish to thank them for their help in making the affair the big success it was.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson was in fine voice and rendered three delightful vocal solos, which were rewarded by spontaneous and continued applause.

Lt. Joseph V. Griffin, of the police department, entertained in his inimitable style, giving several witty readings and monologues.

Talks on Speeding

Col. John Fraser, chief of police, then gave an interesting talk on auto-driving, speed laws, penalties and other similar matters, presenting a number of facts not generally known to the driving public.

A general feeling of good-fellowship pervaded the meeting, which all present agreed was one of the best ever held by the club.

The next meeting is announced for Wednesday, May 23, at the Guild hall of the church, when a varied program of entertainment, with light refreshments, will supplement the important business of election of officers for the fiscal year.

The committee in charge of last night's entertainment wish to extend to all who took part their grateful appreciation and thanks; and to all who were present, a cordial invitation to come again.

RECIPROCITY DAY PROVES COMPLETE SUCCESS

Tuesday Afternoon Club Is Scene of Big Social Luncheon and Meeting

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

RECIPROCITY and hospitality were synonymous yesterday, when Tuesday Afternoon Club officers and members were hostesses in their new club home, entertaining over 300 club women from the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs at the annual reciprocity Day luncheon and meeting. Included in the company were national, state and district officers and all joined with the Tuesday Afternoon Club women in the happiness of the first affair of the kind in the new clubhouse.

Honored guests were Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, general federation director of the state of California for the women's clubs of the world; Mrs. J. S. Trewhella, first vice-president of the Los Angeles district federation of women's clubs; Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, vice-president-at-large of the California federation of women's clubs, and Mrs. Andrew S. Lobingier, president of the Friday Morning club of Los Angeles.

Inspect New Home

In anticipation of seeing the new club house, delegations from various parts of the Los Angeles district arrived at an early hour and enjoyed informal visiting and being shown about the new building.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means, and her efficient corps of Non-Section members planned the luncheon, the tables being arranged in the banquet hall and Italian tea room.

The table of honor occupied the opening between the tea room and the banquet hall. At this table and the one directly in front of it were seated club officers, guests of honor and members of the district board. Quantities of Cecil Brunner roses furnished the decorative feature, while bowls of larger roses and candlesticks bearing pink candles were added touches on the table of honor.

The places were marked by pale yellow crepe paper bon bon baskets and tiny boutonnieres fashioned from varied spring flowers.

Mrs. C. O. Pulliam was in charge of the table decorations.

Prominent Visitors

Seated on either side of Mrs. Daniel Campbell at the head table were Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, Mrs. J. S. Trewhella, Mrs. Andrew S. Lobingier and Mesdames Charles Wiley, C. T. Ritchey, Slaydon, Batiste, C. S. McKelvey, Clayton Taylor, Norton Johnson and Frye of the Los Angeles district board.

At the small table joining the table of honor with the second

Northwest Section in Rally Around Bonfire; Sing, Play

The northwest section of Glendale turned out 600 strong at the mammoth bonfire and wiener-roast held last night on the campus of the Grand View school, under the auspices of Community Service, with the co-operation of the Grand View Parent-Teacher association and the Glendale Foothill Improvement association.

All expectations were exceeded, reports Mrs. P. J. Wheldon of the P.-T. A., and this morning the entire section is wearing a smile of pleasure, to think that its celebration of "Neighbors' Play Day" of Glendale Play Week was such a triumph of the community spirit.

It was, indeed, the largest turnout that has ever been registered in the district, and one that shows clearly the speed with which this locality is forging ahead.

The celebration began at about 8 o'clock, with a grand march starting at the patio of the school and leading to the campus, where the crowd gathered to hear President Alexander Mitchell of the Glendale Foothill Improvement association deliver the opening address of welcome.

Mrs. W. G. Finney, president of the Grand View Parent-Teachers' association, then gave a brief address, thereafter taking charge of the exercises.

The "Salute to the Flag" was then given, followed by the singing of "America," after which Mrs. W. Q. Widdows led in community singing, accompanied by Miss Mabel Cunningham.

Community games were then played, under the direction of Mrs. Langdon of Roscoe and Mrs. J. S. Whytock of Glendale, representatives of Community Service.

At 9:30 o'clock the big bonfire was lighted and the great assemblage closed about it and sang songs as the flickering tongues of fire curled and melted into the night, wrapping the neighborly circle in warmth and flooding it with soft light.

It was at this time that wieners,

Hollywood to Stage Sing At High School Tonight

Whether one loves to sing or is a lover of singing he cannot fail to be attracted by the program to be given at 8 o'clock tonight in the Glendale Union High school as the feature of community "sing," arranged by the Community Service.

It is to be an unusually big affair, in that the program has been arranged by Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood community chorus, and will include well-known musicians from the neighboring city.

Community singing will be led by Hugh Kirchhofer, and Charles Wakefield Cadman, noted American composer, will play some of his own compositions. Margaret Messer Morris, lyric soprano, will sing a group of Cadman songs, and Sol Cohen will give a group of violin numbers.

In addition there will be singing by the Hollywood Woman's club chorus of sixty voices. Greetings from Hollywood will be brought by John F. Mead, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Southern Solons Foil Plot Of Northern Legislators

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, April 25.—Introducing Frank Weller, our trained duck. The Glendale assemblyman has a keen sense of humor as well as honor, and last night "ducked" two issues in the budget appropriation fight in the legislature, incidentally beating the other members to bed by an hour or so.

For a poor pun, we will say it was an otto show. Otto Emme, the recalcitrant classmate of Weller in law school, introduced an amendment to the budget calling for $250,000, stating the Southern Branch of the State university needed that sum for maintenance and support during the next biennium. None of the other Los Angeles legislators knew of Assemblyman Emme's proposed philanthropy. They had it crammed otherwise but Emme has been doing everything just opposite and this San Francisco hatched plot to embarrass Richardson's southern supporters flivvered finally at 2 a. m. when the call of the House caused a shortage of able-bodied sergeants-at-arms.

Instead of voting either for or against the Emme scheme, several southern solons passed, and Weller was included in this list. Then when a call of the House was in order, "ducked" again, as did about half of the Assembly members.

It was good strategy. The silent prayer swung the vote against the university appropriation hoax by a score of 36 to 32. This is the biggest victory yet won by Richardson, and the animosity stirred by the old McCabe machine will undoubtedly turn the tide of battle in favor of the people's program for economy and efficiency. Governor Richardson yesterday announced he is going to the people with the facts about legislative jam. Assemblyman Charles Foster of Fowler last night assailed the raid on the pork barrel and declared it would act as a boomerang. Assemblymen Carter and Dozier and Pomeroy and others all had their say, and the text of it all is politics not government. Both sides are organized for a fight and only the constitutional provision stopping the legislature's pay will give any sign of relief.

SEAMAN STRIKE NATION-WIDE, CLAIM

NEW YORK, April 25.—The seamen strike, which began in New York harbor today, is nation-wide, it was declared this afternoon at headquarters of the I. W. W., which ordered the walkout. New York, San Francisco, New Orleans, Boston, Portland and Philadelphia are already affected, according to John Walsh, chairman of the publicity committee. Ten thousand members of the marine transport workers' international union, No. 510, have quit at New York harbor, he said. HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS

By Dr. Otey

WHAT CAN BE DONE FOR FALLEN ARCHES—FLAT FEET?

People are conscious of much suffering from fallen arches and many people suffer from weak arches who never suspect the source of their distress. Would I recommend wearing arch supports? Yes, but not permanently. I would also recommend the wearing of splints in cases of broken bones, but only till the bones can be made to knit. Just so, arch supports should be worn only until osteopathic treatments have removed the cause of the weakening of the muscles and ligaments that shape the arch. Those muscles and ligaments depend for their TONE or degree of tension on good circulation and also on nerve currents that come to them from the nerve centers in the lower part of the spine.

The treatment for fallen arches or weak arches that have not yet fallen includes adjustment of spinal structures in the region containing the nerve centers controlling the feet as well as manipulation and adjustment of the arch and the fitting of temporary arch supports.

The treatment includes also manipulation of the structures around the hip and elsewhere along the blood vessels to and from the feet.

It is as useless to simply tinker with the structures of the feet as to tinker with your phone when the cause for its refusing to work is in the batteries or the connections in the central office.

There is a difference in relief and cure. Arch supports may give you relief. If you want a cure phone us for appointment.

Youthful Gymnasts Will Stage Program

A Second demonstration of physical activities is planned to be given May 3, by those gymnasts of the southern section of the city, known as the "4 Cs" club which meets each Thursday night at the social hall of the Central avenue Methodist church under the instruction of H. Loren Mitchell, assistant supervisor of physical education in the Los Angeles schools, and J. Floyd McMasters, physical instructor at Glendale avenue Intermediate school.

The program, which is calculated to show the progress from week to week, will consist of a special drill, tumbling both novice and advanced, calisthenics, boxing, wrestling and some amusing stunts for full measure.

Accommodations have been so limited that it has been impossible to take in all who wished to join the club and there is a waiting list. It has been possible to instruct the present membership only by using the outdoors for the drill of the juniors while the seniors were drilling indoors and then reversing the procedure.

As the seating capacity for spectators is only 125, tickets for the demonstration May 3 are at a premium.

K-L Pills

For Kidney and Liver Troubles, Constipation, Intestinal Indigestion and Kindred Ailments

Liver trouble leads to serious ills. And a sure sign of liver trouble is biliousness. If you have attacks of headache, if you have a coated tongue, if you have a fickle appetite, you probably are bilious—which may lead to derangement of the liver and to serious and quite often fatal results. Read this strong endorsement of Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills. Mrs. J. H. Stone, Route No. 3, Baxley, Ga., writes:

"For a number of years I have been troubled with my kidneys, liver and also my heart. I find Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills a wonderful remedy. They certainly are the finest I ever used. I would not be without them in my home and take great pleasure in recommending them to my friends."

EAGLE ROCK

LEAGUE'S OBJECT TOLD AT MEETING

Citizens Plan Improvement of Civic Conditions For Eagle Rock

Members of the Eagle Rock district branch of the Clean Government League of California met last night at the Central school, for the opening spring rally.

Professor Walter Hines, chairman of the Eagle Rock branch of the organization, presided at the meeting. The methods to be used in making the organization a useful one in securing the needs of Eagle Rock, following annexation to Los Angeles, formed the discussion. The program for the evening was planned by Dr. George H. McNeill of Eagle Rock, who is president of the state organization, assisted by Rev. E. E. Haring, executive secretary, and Judge Walter Gates, chairman of the State Public Welfare committee. Delegates from several local district branches were also present.

The addresses delivered were of a constructive nature, and the object of the league, which is primarily for bettering government, was brought out in each talk.

The purpose of the organization shows the channels in which it will undoubtedly be felt. Contained in the statement of the organization's aims, will be found the following: "The purpose of this organization shall be to promote the welfare of all citizens of the state, county and city of Los Angeles; to assist in framing and enforcing law for the government of the state, county and the city of Los Angeles; to work for any and all legislation that has for its object the welfare of state, county and city of Los Angeles, and to oppose all class legislation; to support all officers elected and appointed as long as they stand for clean government; to lend legal, financial, and moral support to protect the said officials against unwarranted attack on character or motive in their endeavor to give to state, county and city a clean and efficient government."

The organization stands for no party politics or denomination, and no subject in any way related to the above is allowed to come under discussion at any regular or special meeting.

It is expected that the organization will enjoy a rapid growth in Eagle Rock. It was organized a month ago, with a view to helping other organizations in their move to better the section.

Will Open Sub Office

The Eagle Rock Realty Board has received a favorable reply to the request of March 12, that the Los Angeles City Council establish a sub office in Eagle Rock, which will expedite the efficient handling of the building department.

This announcement was made today by J. B. Brown, secretary of the Realty Board. The matter has been referred to the finance committee but the board was given the understanding that the proposition would meet with their favor.

This sub office would mean a very important concession on the part of the City Fathers to the Eagle Rock section, due to the fact that building is being carried on extensively, according to permits issued within the last few weeks.

"Indications point to a largely increased building program in Eagle Rock, in the near future," says Mr. Brown, "both as to residential and business property. A number of important building deals, held up pending the result of the recent election, are now under way, with many more to follow in the next ninety days."

New Chair at Oxy

Occidental college is planning to establish a Chair of Pacific Relationships, with an endowment fund of $125,000, according to an announcement by Dr. Remsen D. Bird, president.

This professorship will train men and women for leadership in commercial, political, consular, diplomatic, educational and religious services, at home and abroad, it is understood, in the belief that the Pacific ocean is destined to become the third and greatest civilization center of the world.

This conception of Dr. Bird and his associates in the guidance of Occidental college is a very broad one and is rich in historical significance, recalling the fact that the Mediterranean was the first civilization center and the Atlantic the second.

The endowment, Dr. Bird states, will provide a $5000 salary for the professor and $1250 for an exchange with an Oriental educational institution, every fourth year. The residue will be used for the purchase of books, traveling expenses of exchange professors, and an occasional scholarship.

A letter was received by B. B. Martsolf, city clerk, yesterday morning, bearing an official welcome to Eagle Rock into the "greater Los Angeles," but also stating the regrets of the Los Angeles mayor and council that they would be unable to accept the invitation of the Eagle Rock board of trustees at this time to be present at the meeting at the city hall last night, there to meet the constituents of he newly-annexed city of Eagle Rock.

H. H. Kinney, secretary to Mayor Cryer, stated in the letter that the mayor and council were desirous of meeting with the people of Eagle Rock at some future date, but that all engagements were taken up for the next few weeks. He also stated that he hoped the consolidation of Eagle Rock with Los Angeles would be a source of profit and pleasure to all parties concerned.

Representatives of the Union Oil company appeared before the board of trustees at the meeting at the city hall Monday night requesting permission to erect an oil station on the northwest corner of Central avenue and Colorado boulevard.

The board was divided on the question, and while it was a question for a time whether the board would bar such a consideration entirely or not, it was finally decided that the matter would be tabled, to be decided by the Los Angeles City council.

This word damped the enthusiasm of the representatives, somewhat, it was reported, as the matter cannot be brought before the City Council of Los Angeles before the 17th of May, at the earliest, and will probably be held under consideration by that body for some time, before a final answer is given, as the matter of taking over the affairs of Eagle Rock will necessarily mean the addition of the well-known "red tape" until all is in good working order.

Start Dollar Drive

The "dollar drive" launched by the Central School Parent-Teachers' association began yesterday, with all forces at work to make it a success.

The Parent-Teachers' association discovered that, when the new cafeteria was completed, the cost amounted to $500 more than they had figured. It is with the hope of entering Los Angeles with no debts hanging over their heads that the leaders of the association have decided to make this "dollar drive."

The campaign managers have adopted the following as their slogan, "If you can't give a dollar, give what you can. If you can give more, send all you can!"

Offerings may be sent through any of the school children, in case the donor finds it impossible to bring the donations to the schools or through any member of the committee, which is composed of Mrs. J. C. Reiter, chairman; Mrs. A. H. Harrison, 450 Montiflora; Mrs. J. B. Squire, 226 North Highlands; Mrs. H. E. Arbogast, 212 North Highlands; Mrs. W. S. Quarterman, 202 East Park; Mrs. F. H. Lerchen, Campus Road, and Mrs. E. D. Koen, 601 South College View. Do it now is the word these workers give to all prospective helpers.

The cafeteria, which was built through funds raised by the Parent-Teacher association at such events as the Harvest Home Festival, the Irish Hop and the Toonerville barn dance, is large enough now to accommodate the entire attendance at the Central, and is run on a cost basis. Plans are now under way for events to aid in further finances, according to the word from Mrs. Reiter.

Central school children are happily thinking over the richness of the harvest of old newspapers and magazines gathered in their recent drive. They report that the proceeds from the old printed matter brought in amounted to $116.54, to be used in paying for the school annual.

Every day, in every way, the horde of newspapers grew bigger and bigger, and prospects for the annual grew better and better. When the drive ended, the newspapers weighed up to seven tons, and the magazines tipped the scales at three-fourths of a ton. The mathematics classes were given the work of figuring out the number of pounds, as a written problem, and found that they had lugged 14,000 pounds of newspapers and 1500 pounds of magazines to the Central school. As one of the youngsters said, in a humorous mood, the drive turned out to be "some heavy weight."

Mattison H. Compton is head of the manual training department, which is to cover all of the school activities.

The proceeds from the card party to be given by the Twentieth Century club, at the women's club house, next Monday afternoon, will help to swell the building fund of the American Legion Victory Post of Los Angeles, it was announced today, by the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. B. B. Martsolf and Mrs. C. W. Hunt.

The two committees in charge of this card party, and the first to be given in May, have combined forces in order to make the event a success. Each card party has been given for some benevolent purpose, and the one for next Monday has been set aside for the benefit of the World War veterans. There will be the usual games offered, with prizes for each table, and the hostesses are urging all the card players of Eagle Rock to make next Monday the big card party event.

An important business transaction took place the first of the week at the east end of Eagle Rock, when R. J. Shoop gave over possession of the East End drug store at Townsend and Colorado boulevard, to the new owner, A. Stiles. The deal is in escrow at the present time, but the new owner was allowed to take possession Monday.

J. M. Blankenship of 1317 North Brand boulevard, Glendale, is building a residence in North Ellenwood drive, and plans to move in with his family about the first of July. Mr. Blankenship has sold his residence on North Brand boulevard, Glendale, to Stephen D. Shilling of Lincoln, Neb.

C. C. Pike, formerly in the real estate business with the H. E. Barnum Company has taken offices at 103 South Townsend avenue, with Dewey Hildebrand.

Hawaiian Youth Will Render Native Music

Chong-Kong, who is one of the musicians to furnish entertainment at the Fathers and Sons banquet at the Central Christian church next Tuesday night, May 1, has an interesting story, although only 18 years old. He is a Hawaiian, from Honolulu, whose folks are Buddhists.

While in Honolulu Chong visited the Y. M. C. A. and learned American ways, becoming a Christian. He has come to this country to prepare for a life work among the boys of the Hawaiian Islands.

Chong is at present a student in the Fullerton Junior high school. The instrument he will play at the banquet is the steel guitar, so popular in his own country, and that produces those plaintive, alluring notes well known to music lovers.

Will Take Guests On Fishing Trip to Lake

A number of the Bentley family plan to spend May Day at Big Bear lake, leaving Monday, April 30, and returning Wednesday, May 2. The party will include Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bentley and Mr. and Mrs. J. Roger Bentley.

Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Arnold and Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Ford. The party plans a genuine, old-fashioned "fishin' trip," the success of the affair depending entirely, or at least to no little extent, with the fish.

TUJUNGA

P.-T. A. SHOW NETS $100 FOR SCHOOL

Hall Filled With Capacity Crowd to Witness Performance

The entertainment and dance given by the Sunland Parent-Teachers Association was one of those standing-room-only successes. Every seat was taken and many stood through the presentation of the excellent numbers and declared the performance well worth it.

The Sunland Parent-Teachers' Association is a very ambitious and hustling organization and is deserving of all the generous praise given by those who attended this affair and all others who have followed their efforts to better conditions in the school life of their children.

Among the many untiring workers who are always ready and willing to give their unstinted best for any good cause is Mrs. Jessie Kimpel. Mrs. Kimpel is a musician of marked ability and as chairman of the musical committee arranged a very pleasing program. There are many others deserving of praise, who always co-operate with her.

This entertainment netted very close to $100 which will be used as a nucleus for a fund to be spent on development work for the school conditions and make school life more attractive to the young mind.

The program started with a song, "The P. T. A," everyone joining in singing it. This is the song composed by Allan Spurr, blind musician, who dedicated it to them in recognition of their splendid work. Mrs. Kimpel played the accompaniment on the piano.

Mrs. Thomas of Pasadena gave an interesting talk on the aims of the Parent-Teachers' Association. She laid particular emphasis on the importance of fathers interesting themselves in the work and encouraged them to attend more regularly.

Sumner H. Adams played a cornet solo, accompaniment by Mrs. Kimpel.

Girls Present Play

The school girls then presented an original one act play written by Miss Catherine Crews, entitled "For the School." It was a story of a girl's school life and how a neglected girl proved her worth by winning at tennis when the school champion failed to appear in time to defend the school honor. This skit was very well presented.

Jack Bloodgood offered a violin solo, which it is needless to say, was enjoyed by all present. His violin music is well known and much in demand.

Mrs. Genevieve Adams gave a dramatic reading entitled, "The Gambler," and James Chatham sang baritone solos.

Mrs. Reed, president of the Parent-Teachers Association of Sunland, gave an impromptu talk. Mrs. Reed had not intended to speak but some one learned she was in the house and demanded her appearance.

Mrs. Dyke, vice-president of the Pasadena Parent-Teachers' association, and Mrs. Case, federation superintendent of Pasadena, addressed the audience on the welfare of the Parent-Teachers' association.

Mrs. Turk spoke on "The Birth of the Flag."

Mrs. Kimpel and her mother, Mrs. Bloodgood, presented a comedy skit that brought down the house, and, in many cases, glowering glances. It was called "A Bit of Gossip," and it was just that. Many a cheek took on a fiery hue, and many a conscience prayed for exemption, as Mrs. Kimpel and Mrs. Bloodgood talked over the "doings" and "goings on" in the neighborhood. And many heaved a sigh of relief when the act was ended. But it was all fun, and no malicious gossip was introduced, much to the apparent relief of all concerned.

The west wing of the school was turned into a candy shop. Dancing was enjoyed later in the auditorium. In brief, to make a long story short, the show was a howling success.

C. of C. Buys Piano

The Sunland Chamber of Commerce has purchased the piano they have been using through the courtesy of Mr. Aikens, and it is now a permanent fixture in the hall. Mrs. Kimpel was instrumental in raising the funds for this purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hamilton gave a birthday party for their small son, Dale, 3 years old, on April 20. Guests present were from Pasadena, Los Angeles and Tujunga.

Mrs. E. Farrel also gave a birthday party for her son, Emmet, Jr., who was 12 years old on this occasion.

Predicts America to Take Lead in Art

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—"America's hideous jazz period of today, with 'flappers' leading the movement for a new freedom a century hence will probably be considered the most artistic in the world's history."

Hugh Walpole, eminent English novelist, today in an interview, made the foregoing statement, adding that America will be the center of the art renaissance of the world; in fact, that this renaissance is commencing already.

"In history the arts have always followed wealth. In England of Elizabethan times, in Florence, Venice, Athens —all of the centers of culture of past days—this has been so.

"Today, America, wealthiest nation the world has ever seen, is the objective of as representative a group of world intellectuals as there are living. The invasion has commenced already," Walpole said.

Arrest of Deserter May Solve Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson announced today that if a telegraphic check indicates there is some basis for the reported confession in Phoenix, Ariz., of Gladwell G. Richardson, 19-year-old navy deserter, that he struck the blow which resulted in the death of Rabbi Alfred G. Lafee.

Matheson, without further substantiation, was inclined to doubt the Richardson story, but said it would be checked from all angles. According to Matheson's advice, Richardson was picked up in a railroad yards. Richardson is said to have deserted the navy tug Vigilant, April 5, the day Rabbi Lafee died.

FOR HARBOR WORK

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary of War Weeks announced today he had allotted approximately $40,000,000 of the $56,000,000 appropriated by congress for rivers and harbors. The $40,000,000 will be spent mainly on harbors and principal rivers.

Kneaded Dough

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Susan White never had a chance. A poor relative, she was shifted from the home of one aunt to another. At Aunt Ellen's she had been no more than a servant and had been reminded each day of the obligations and good fortune in her position. Susan brushed her hair straight and wore Aunt Ellen's old house dresses. She became in spirit and appearance the poor relation.

"What is the use of trying to look pretty?" she said on the day she surrendered. "I might as well make up my mind to grow old.

The time came for Susan to be switched to the home of Aunt Elizabeth in Minden.

"Your Aunt Elizabeth," Aunt Ellen explained, "has insisted you come to her. I will warn you now Minden is a small town and Aunt Elizabeth, while she is a most worthy woman, has not the same ideas of housekeeping and homemaking I have. You will find things different and I hope you will know how to meet the situation."

Susan decided there was some hope in the promise of a difference and prepared to leave.

In the home bakery of Mrs. Royal Thorne an interesting ceremony took place. The proprietor paid one of her occasional visits to the shop to show the help she was not above work.

"It is good for them," she explained to her husband, "to get some first-hand knowledge and to feel that I am one of them in spirit even if I am away most of the time. I call it a sort of Americanization work," And she smiled a fat and contented smile.

Mrs. Thorne rolled her sleeves above large arms and jeweled fingers. This was no bakery of modern machinery. Its appeal was home-made pastry and bread, the kind mother used to make, and the mother was Mrs. Thorne.

"Girls," she said, and the large woman was much happier than she had been in the home this bakery had purchased, "if you watch me you will see how I made the bread which made me famous." Then she laughed, told stories, gave each of the girls a present and departed, satisfied she had done her duty by her employes and had a good time in the bargain. In the taxicab with her husband, she started pulling on her gloves.

"I've lost my diamond!"

An angular husband, acquired after the early baking struggles, removed the long cigarette holder from his lips and shrugged his shoulders.

"Serves you right for kneading dough with your rings on. We'll get another tomorrow."

Aunt Ellen made Susan White's departure a terrifying event. Minden, she said, would not expect much in the way of clothes and Susan must wear the plainest she had. It would not do to be reckless or extravagant. Susan could take a box of sandwiches and sit up at night in the chair car. Minden, Aunt Ellen repeated, was no place for show and Susan must remember her position.

On the train next morning Susan opened her box of lunch. In an hour she would be in Denver for a long wait. If she had possessed enough money she would throw the sandwiches out of the window and dine in the city. She looked down at her clothes, opened the box and started to eat.

In Denver Susan White became a different girl. She went at once to the best jewelry store she could find and sold the diamond she had found in her sandwich, a jewel which had come in time to answer her dreams. Never once did she doubt it was a real diamond, so she was not surprised at the large amount of money the man gave her. It would buy a suit and a hat and she could get her hair dressed.

When Susan boarded the train she noticed people looked at her with approval. It was a new experience. Then she wondered what Aunt Elizabeth would say. "If she is like Aunt Ellen," the girl thought, "I'll go away. I'm going to be young and pretty before it is too late."

Minden still remembers the arrival of the beautiful girl who is now a leader among the young people. And Susan remembers a motherly figure whose eyes appraised her approvingly and who folded her in her arms. She could never find out who put the diamond in the bread.

CREPE FROCKS IN GREAT FAVOR

The crepes lead in favor for the transition period leading into Spring, subtle and unobtrusive, calling upon a bit of contrasting material or embroidery for gay accent. The first design pictured may be carried out in cotton, silk or wool crepe. Simple and well planned, it rests its cause with a side drapery lined with bright silk, graceful sleeves and a youthful neckline. Medium size requires 3½ yards 40-inch material.

The second frock, less independent, relies largely upon check silk to complement the blouse of knit silk. This is ideal for sports or general daytime wear. The skirt is higher at the sides than at the back and front, this arrangement giving variety of line without introducing a decorative scheme that would make the design unfitted for practical use. Gingham and the smart colorful linens are also attractive in this model. Medium size requires 1¾ yards 36-inch light and 2½ yards 36-inch check material.

First Model—Pictorial Review Dress No. 1475. Sizes 36 to 46 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model—Dress No. 1486. Sizes, 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

SLIM ANKLES

There are a few things, and unfortunately only a very few things, that can be done to thick ankles to make them thin. One is to reduce all over if the body is too fleshy, for extra layers of flesh have an unfortunate habit of collecting over the abdomen and over the ankles. A general reduction will cause this extra flesh to be reabsorbed and the ankles, as well as the whole body, will become slimmer.

Another thing is to exercise. This may not noticeably reduce a fat ankle, but it will make it more shapely. An excellent exercise is to walk on the balls of the feet, preferably in bedroom slippers or in the stocking feet. This, incidentally, strengthens weak arches as well as weak ankles and makes the calf of the leg shapely.

Another excellent thing is massage. In this case it should be as vigorous as possible. The ankles should be rubbed upwards and downwards and kneeded with the hands with as much pressusre as you have strength for.

Many people believe that soaking the feet and ankles in hot water, to which a quantity of epsom salts has been added, will take off flesh. If you have any tendency to rheumatism I approve of this treatment thoroughly, but I do not think it will reduce flesh. One of the easiest and most effective treatments is to wear high shoes laced as snugly as is comfortable, but not tight enough to stop circulation of the blood. The pressure and rubbing of the shoe top literally wears away this flesh.

Try the above suggestion in connection with exercise and massage, and I think you will find, unless you are much overweight, that the ankles will show an improvement within a month's time. You may never make them as slim and beautiful as you want them, but every little bit will help.

Blondee.—I will be glad to mail you a formula for the lashes on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

Doubtful—Peroxide will bleach superfluous hair, but there is no certainty that it will discourage the growth.

Anxious—You are more than twenty pounds overweight for a height of four feet one inch. Wear one-piece dresses and arrange all the lines vertically so as to give an appearance of more height.

Mrs. William H.—The formula for the bust cannot be printed at this time. Send a stamped addressed envelope to have it mailed to you.

Sunshine—If you have lines and sagging facial muscles at 17

you are run down. All that is necessary is to build yourself up, then all these troubles will disappear.

The "latest thing" in bureau covers is quite a departure from the long scarf or the oblong cover which comes to the edge of the bureau-top. This new style cover is made in three pieces:

How to Make a Three-Piece Dresser Set: The average bureau is about a yard long, perhaps an inch or so longer. For this size bureau-top you will need a yard and an eighth of goods for the cover. Most bureaus of this size are about seventeen inches deep. Therefore the three pieces of the cover-set will consist of two ten by fourteen inch pieces (one for either end) and a middle piece measuring fourteen inches square. This does not allow for the hem; these measurements are for the three doilies when they are finished.

You will agree with me that this type of bureau cover is most effective when you have finished it and put it on the dresser or dressing table. Each piece should be finished either with a narrow edging of some sort (perhaps a simple picot or narrow lace), or may have a hem not quite an inch deep. Hemstitched edges are also pretty. The three pieces are placed on the bureau-top one inch apart.

Now, in regard to materials for making these three-piece sets: The most effective set I have so far seen was made of ecru scrim, hemstitched at the edges, and having a cross-stitch design in each corner done in colored linen thread. The design was a black basket (with high handle) filled with flowers of various delicate colors.

Another dainty dresser set was made of ordinary cream linen hand-toweling. It gave the effect of real linen, yet was inexpensive. The three pieces were bordered all around, just above a half-inch hem by a strip of old-blue flowered cretonne; this cretonne band was one-half inch wide and was sewed flat on the goods. (Of course, the cretonne matched the window over-drapes, thus helping with the general color scheme of the bedroom.)

Dotted Swiss (pieces from an old dress!) provided the material for still another three-piece dresser set which I have recently seen in a friend's home. This set, like all the others I have described, was made in the dimensions given above, but was finished with a border of pink French knots put on over the machine stitching around the hem. A small, solid flower made of French knots decorated each corner of the three pieces.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SHALL WE USE NO SALT?

"Can that which hath no savor be eaten without salt? Or is there any taste in the white of an egg? My soul refuseth to touch them. They are as loathsome food to me."—Job, 6:6-7.

There is no doubt we use excessive amounts of salt for seasoning, and this excessive amount is very harmful. As is usually the case when we find one extreme is harmful, we are apt to go to the other extreme, and now some people are advocating the elimination of all salt in the food, both in cooking and at the table.

Kellogg of Battle Creek believes that a salt-free diet, or at least the very minimum of salt, should be used—and he brings forth considerable evidence to support his views. There are others equally authoritative on the subject of nutrition who believe that the lack of all added salt is harmful, and that a moderate amount should be taken.

Bunge believes that while one might live without the addition of salt to the food, yet without salt we would not be inclined to eat some of the foods that are necessary for us. Sherman supports him in his views. They both emphasize the fact that we take altogether too much salt with our foods, and advise that we cut it down markedly.

Most animal historians say that the herbivora (herb-eaters) seem to require salt and will go long distances to secure it if it is not supplied. The carnivora (flesh-eaters) do not require it, because they get sufficient salt for their needs in the bones and organs and blood of their prey. Most of us are omnivorous (omnis, all-vorare, to eat greedily; that is, we eat both animal and vegetable food). But we do not eat bones and fresh blood, the chief supply of salt to the carnivorous animals.

Sodium chloride occurs in the blood and other fluids, and is necessary to maintain their normal pressure and reaction. It is estimated that the body contains about three ounces of sodium chloride—common salt. Very little of this is eliminated daily. However, this amount that is eliminated must be resupplied; and if we are going to eliminate all added salt, then we must give very much more attention to the foods that are rich in it.

Most minerals have to go through the plant laboratory to be made into organic forms before they can be used by the animal system; but salt, lime, phosphorus, and possibly iron are some exceptions, as proved by experimental studies in the feeding of animals. This does not mean, however, that the organic forms are not the best forms.

I do not believe there is sufficient data to support the theory that all salt should be eliminated, except in some abnormal conditions. It seems to me the wisest course would be to do as Gautier, Sherman, Bunge and other authorities advise—that is, to cut salt down to the minimum, but not to cut it out entirely.

The amount of water retained in the tissues has a direct relation to the salts we supply in our foods. Salt is eliminated by the kidneys and skin, so in disorders of the kidneys and skin, and in some forms of heart disease, when salt cannot be eliminated properly too much salt is retained in the tissues and an excessive amount of water must be retained to dilute it. Under these conditions a salt-free diet is advisable. This means no table salt either in cooking or at the table. In epilepsy, the elimination of all salt is also advised now. One of the causes of high blood pressure is excess salt. So, as a preventive measure and as a treatment of this disorder, the very minimum of salt should be taken.

Excess salt that is taken into the system is eliminated by the kidneys and skin without change. And you can easily see that if too much salt is taken the kidneys and skin will be irritated. As it is well established that excess salt is harmful, we should not allow our children to cultivate the craving for it. For salt in excess is purely a cultivated taste.

As for cutting it out entirely, let us think about it a bit.

JUDGING BY APPEARANCES

"It pays to dress well," said the Authorman's wife a trifle sententiously. "People almost always judge one by one's appearance."

"Not if they're wise," retorted the Cynic.

"But ninety-nine times out of one hundred you'd be right," defended the Authorman's wife.

The Smoker of the Corncob

"I doubt it—but even then the one hundredth time might be disastrous." And the Cynic laughed. "I remember the story, which happens to be true, of the manager of a very fashionable summer hotel who was told by his clerk that a queer old cove was smoking a corncob pipe on the piazza and refused to leave, although he had been courteously informed that the piazza was for the use of the guests. The manager promptly took charge of the matter himself and ordered the intruder off, rather peremptorily. The intruder went—in a $9,000 car that his chauffeur had been taking around to the garage. The manager made inquiries and found out that the man was a rather eccentric millionaire, who, as it happened, owned a big block of stock in that very hotel."

"Well, that was only one case in a hundred, as I said," interjected the Authorman's wife.

"And a rather disastrous one for the manager," added the Cynic, mildly. "As a matter of fact, I know of another case that happened to a friend of mine. He invested a lot in a house which he hoped to sell at profit, but he couldn't seem to sell it, and the house became a white elephant on his hands.

Another Bad Guess

"The other day he was working about the place when some people drove up in a flivver. A woman who was anything but well dressed stepped out and asked to see the house. The owner wants $12,000 for the house—wants it in cash because he thinks it's a bargain at that price, and besides he needs the money. He looked at the woman and saw, among other things, that her coat was old and her gloves shabby. She made rather a sharp retort to that, at which my friend, whose experience with the house has not improved his disposition, told her bluntly that the house cost more than she could afford to pay. He judged by appearances."

The Cynic stopped and smiled.

"The woman was the wife of one of the biggest manufacturers in the city, so my friend learned afterward. She had borrowed the coat and gloves when a friend whom she was visiting suggested that they take a ride."

"Well, what would you advise?" asked the Authorman's wife, rather sarcastically.

"Why, the tale carries its own moral. Still, if you insist, I'd put it this way: Dress yourself as well as you choose and get all you need out of people who do judge by appearances. But, as far as your own reactions are concerned, remember that in this country appearances come so cheap that the only man who can afford to be without them is the man who doesn't need them—and so, be wary when you come to judge by them."

COUNCILMAN FOR VALLEY DESIRED

C. of C. Board Hears Claims of C. T. Wardlaw For Position In L. A.

During the meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon, the proceedings of the board were sidetracked for a few minutes to permit the representatives of a delegation from Van Nuys to present the claims of C. T. Wardlaw, who is running for election to the Los Angeles City Council in the election that is to be held May 1. Mark Grimes of Van Nuys asserted that the lower part of the San Fernando valley that has been annexed to Los Angeles must have its own representative on the Los Angeles City Council, if it is to secure the treatment to which it is entitled. He spoke of the sewage and transportation problems that confront the various valley towns at this time, and in which, he declared, Glendale is as vitally interested as those of other towns that form a part of Los Angeles, and he pleaded for the co-operation of the men and women of this city in electing a candidate who is posted on the needs of the valley and who will attempt to secure for those towns the things they need.

Secretary Buckner of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce also spoke, pointing out the imperative need of direct representation on the Los Angeles city council, and, at the close of the speech-making, the members of the board agreed to take several thousands of the post cards that have been prepared by the Wardlaw supporters and to broadcast them among their business acquaintances and friends in Los Angeles, in an effort to elect the candidate and to secure representation for the valley towns.

Look, Long Beach!

The course that has been recently adopted by Long Beach in calling itself the fastest growing city in America has aroused the wrath of the Chamber of Commerce, and the fallacy of this claim on the part of Long Beach was shown by L. H. Wilson, who quoted figures based on the building permits and the population of various cites in Southern California, by which he showed that Glendale is the city that is rightfully entitled to use the slogan of The Fastest Growing City in America. On the suggestion of W. L. Twining, chairman of the advertising committee, Secretary E. F. Sanders was instructed to have the slogan copyrighted in the name of Glendale, which would act to prevent its use by any other city. H. S. McCormack, vice-chairman of the publicity committee, asserted that priority of use was recognized by the courts of the country as establishing a claim on any such slogan, and action could be started through the Associated Advertising Associations of America by which Long Beach could be stopped from using this slogan.

Harry E. White submitted a report on the meeting that he attended at the Maryland hotel in Pasadena last week at which a discussion was held with the view of perfecting plans for widening Foothill boulevard from Pasadena to San Bernardino. In conversation with the representatives of other communities who were at the meeting, Mr. White learned of the progress that has been made in the extension of York boulevard, and since then he has been over the various roads that are included in the project to secure easy access to the beaches, all of which, he stated, are of interest to Glendale as affording a relief from the present crowded traffic conditions and returning direct benefits to this city from the traffic that would be routed through here when the route is finished. Ninety per cent of the property adjoining the proposed route, he declared, has been signed up, and one of the first results of the construction of the York boulevard will be the erection of a bridge south of Glendale, something that is imperatively needed.

Seek Lower Grade

Motions were carried asking that the city authorities be urged to lower the grade on South Adams street to connect with York boulevard, and also that the city manager be instructed to secure a deed to a portion of the land belonging to the cemetery association and which is to be donated for the purpose of affording a right of way at a point where the road needs to be made straight.

George B. Karr, chairman of the civics committee, stated that the city has agreed to institute a more frequent and thorough collection of tin cans and other rubbish as a part of a systematic movement to make and keep the city as clean as possible; and this is to be supplemented later by an attempt to induce the citizens of Glendale to clean up their premises at regular intervals and thus keep them looking at their best at all times.

Mr. Karr also suggested that the members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce meet with representatives of other civic organizations, not in any official capacity but rather as individuals, to work out a solution of the city's problems and to secure advice and assistance in carrying out any sound plan for the betterment of Glendale.

A report on the progress of the Merchants' Industrial Exposition was made by H. S. McCormack, who stated that the sign that is to be erected across North Brand boulevard, opposite the exposition site, will be in place today. Two thousand books of tickets have been turned over to Principal George U. Moyse of the Glendale Union High school and will be sold by the pupils, the boy and girl selling the highest number to receive a wrist watch from H. L. Leavitt, director general of the exposition. The Boy Scouts, working as individuals and not as an organization, have also agreed to dispose of a certain number of books of tickets. The trolley poles on the streets will be decorated on May 15, the tent for the exposition will be up by the same date, the bills will be posted all over the surrounding territory by May 1, and the newspaper advertising will start on May 10.

Advertising Campaign

The contract for the lumber for the exposition goes to May & Hellman, the local firm, who came closest to the lowest bid from an out-of-town firm, and the difference of $200 is to be made up by Mr. Leavitt, according to Mr. McCormack.

A. R. Eastman reported for the joint meeting of the advertising and the special committees of the Chamber of Commerce with a committee from the Glendale Realty Board on the subject of starting an advertising campaign to place Glendale more in the limelight throughout the country than has been done in the past. The committees recommend that a sum of $500 be set aside for immediate expenditure on a booklet to advertise Glendale, and that new memberships in the Chamber of Commerce be secured on a basis that would permit 60 per cent of the annual dues to be set aside for advertising and 40 per cent for the regular overhead expenses of the Chamber of Commerce, while the dues of those who are now members of the organization be expended as usual until June 1, after which date they would all be split on the 60-40 per cent basis. The same report will be made to the Glendale Realty Board today and another meeting of the three committees will be held to adopt a definite program.

Street Decorations

R. S. Kitterman reported that the street decorations that are to be hung out in honor of the loyalty parade of the boys during Play Week and of the 104th anniversary of the Odd Fellows will be in place in plenty of time for these celebrations on Friday and Saturday of this week, respectively.

President Jesse E. Smith will name a committee to welcome the Community Singers from Hollywood who will be here tonight as a part of the Play Week program.

The resignation of Mrs. Helen A. McMullin as a member of the civics committee was read and accepted, and the secretary was instructed to ask Mrs. Dan Campbell, the president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, to nominate another representative of the club to act on the committee.

A letter notifying the directors of the proposed celebration on Saturday, April 28, of the completion of the new lighting system on the San Fernando road was read, and a resolution was ordered transmitted to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce as placing the Chamber of Commerce on record as favoring the proposed bond issue of $7,000,000 for the new county jail, hospital and county farm.

Human Interest Story From Land of the Bear Better Homes Week Next Prosperity to Remain

By Gil A. Cowan

As you glance through the columns of the newspapers on a busy day every once in a while you will find a human interest story that arrests your attention.

Such was that in reference to Jackie Coogan taking a playmate into his home. Priscilla Moran is her name, but the name itself is immaterial. It is the fact that the millionaire kid of the movies is doing something useful with his money.

Indeed, were it in the power of the trustees of his estate to invest in children's hospitals, orphanages and the like Jackie Coogan would not have given his childhood to the screen in vain.

For all that Jackie is going to get out of this world is a precociousness and a mint of money, but very little happiness except in that which he does for others. May little Priscilla Moran be a ray of sunshine for his soul.

While speaking of things theatrical, with romance woven round, there is an Orpheum act headed south from San Francisco soon which is titled "Yarmark." As you may imagine from the name, it is Russian.

Yarmark means carnival and the company of twenty from the land of the Bear present a carnival such as is seldom seen on American stages. Each and everyone of these Russians, none of whom speak Engleesh vera mooch, are born singers or dancers.

Yes, these sturdy peoples of another continent serve fair warning on America in the artistic triumph, the indefatigable efforts to please, and the evidences of racial strength that these United States must ever be alert to renew its stock, to permit a modulated flow of immigration, and counteract the dangers of disintegration accompanying such a speedy civilization.

A friend of mine, who visited Finland soon after the war was ended, tells a humorous incident about getting cream for his coffee, while dining in Helsingfors. The waitress understood his request for "cafe," but when he said "cream," she brought him more sugar. Not knowing the language, he asked for "milk." The only reply to this was a smile and a "Nay, nay." Her nay gave him an idea. If she could neigh like a horse, why couldn't he make a noise like a cow. So he moaned "moo, moo" in a final effort to make himself understood.

The face of the girl brightened a bit as she said, "Yo, kuhe." All of which proves it takes the "moo" of the "kuhe" to get the cream for "cafe" in Finland.

"Home, Sweet Home," made famous in song, is to be constructed near the White House in Washington as national headquarters for the campaign June 4 to 10 to be known as "Better Homes Week," according to news dispatches.

It is a commendable undertaking sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

But better homes do not mean simply those which are artistic or well furnished. The best home is one in which people like to stay.

The American people seemingly do not appreciate home the way Abraham Lincoln did—and we wonder:

Would not the reincarnation of Nancy Hanks in the homes of today accomplish more in the way of "better homes" suggested by the club women?

We read with a deal of satisfaction the reports of the last week-end stating that prosperity is a fixed condition in the United States.

Not only is this tone of optimism noted in Southern California, on the Pacific coast, but in the whole United States.

And it is good to note the government's action to prohibit speculation, especially in the necessities of life.

Slowly, we are evolving an economic structure that is most durable, it would seem.

EASTMAN TELLS OF BOYS' WEEK

Take More Pride in Youth of Community, Is Plea of Scouts' Head

"One of the main purposes of Boys' Week is to get the boys before the public at large," says A. R. Eastman, of the Glendale Rotary club, president of the Verdugo Hills Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"We take pride in our building permits, our telephone and gas and light connections, we hold industrial exhibitions to show how many factories and merchants a city has—but we don't take half enough pride in our boys. We consider them too much as a routine matter, when as a matter of fact they are our future men and the nation's mainstay in the years to come.

"Hence the Boys' Week idea is a sort of juvenile exhibition, to show how many boys a city has, and their calibre. And the idea of a Boys' Week "Loyalty Parade," such as Glendale will witness at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon of this week, under the auspices of the Glendale Rotary club, will carry over to the people of the city that in boys also, Glendale is 'The Fastest Growing City in America'.

Gets Proud Feeling

"That is the men's side of it. Now consider the boys' angle. It gives a boy a mighty proud feeling to know that a lot of other fathers as well as his own are taking a vital interest in him and in his future. It makes a boy stop and think for himself of his future. It makes him begin to wonder what he is going to become when he grows up, and to start planning, as he becomes more familiar with the occupations of the men of the community—his 'big brothers.'

"This feeling of common interest between boys and men is a wonderful thing. It works both ways. The man sees, as he gets closer to the boy, many manly traits in his character, and comes to think, 'Well, these boys are after all a lite like us men.' And the boy sees, as he comes to understand the man, many boyish traits in his character, and comes to think, 'Gee, these men are really a lot like us boys.'"

BOTTLING PLANT WILL BE FILMED

Two Reel Picture of Brown Beverage Co.'s Factory Will Be Exhibited

The S. W. Brown Beverage Company of 463 West Los Feliz road is now getting ready to distribute a two-reel educational moving picture taken in its plant last week and illustrating the different processes in the bottling of its products.

"It is very difficult to get the public to come and inspect a factory," remarked S. W. Brown yesterday. "So we are going to take the factory to the public. The bottling of beverages is a wonderful field for moving pictures as it touches such a number of different subjects: carbonation, sterilization, pasteurization, and many others."

In order to secure better photography, the pictures of the local plant were taken at night and almost two nights were consumed in the process. They were taken by William Craft of 1402 South Brand boulevard, cameraman for "Stanley in Africa," "Saved by Radio" and other features.

"We are having this picture made to take the 'pop' idea out of our beverages," asserted Mr. Brown. "There is a false idea as to the purity and sanitation of bottled beverages. The S. W. Brown Company will take the lead in educating the public through moving pictures."

YALE OILER GETS DRIVER'S PRAISE

Motorist Is Well Pleased With Results Obtained By New System

The old hackneyed expression "worth its weight in gold" in one instance contains more truth than poetry according to Claude Roudebush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply Company, who relates the following, "We are always interested in reports from motorists who try out our equipment on their cars. Many interesting tales are told of their experiences. An interesting story came to my attention the other day from one of these users. A geologist, who makes these extended trips through the deserts of Nevada on geological investigations, had equipped his Ford with a Yale Oiling System before starting on one of these expeditions. So hazardous were these trips that he always made them alone, not wishing to shoulder the responsibility of the life of his companion.

He would plan these trips weeks ahead, carefully equipping his car with such fitments as he would need for such a trip. At last, after careful preparation, one morning found him on his way, taking with him a maximum supply of gasoline, oil and water, trusting his life to his faithful Ford.

Leaving civilization behind; through arroyos and mountain stream beds, long since dry, dodging boulders, through greasewood shrubs and mesquite plants he traveled. After traversing such country for over 150 miles he at last reached his destination where after obtaining the samples he had come seeking, he began his long trip homeward.

Makes Discovery

He gave no thought to his car outside of the regular routine of putting in gas and oil, and his faithful flivver never failed him. Upon his return home, recalling the racking and tear that his car had been subject to, he decided to give it a complete overhauling and general inspection. Upon removing the transmission housing it was found that the oil line had been clogged and from the nature of the deposit which it contained it was evident that it had been filled with sediment for a matter of perhaps weeks. His engine had been equipped with a Yale Oiler, and when he was told of the fact that the oil line had been so clogged, he told the foregoing story and added: "I figured that oiler saved my life and it's surely worth its weight in gold, for it would have cost me at least $100 to be towed from that place, (had I ever got back) and the job of overhauling would have cost not less than $50, and might have cost me a new engine. That's why I say that the Yale Oiler is worth its weight in gold for it weighs in the neighborhood of three-quarters of a pound and at the present price of gold, is worth about $150—believe me, I'll never drive a Ford unless it is equipped with a Yale Oiler."

AUTO COLLISION

The automobile of E. M. Pinkston of 1119 Western avenue sustained slight damage about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when it was struck on the right running board by another car. The accident occurred as he was crossing Orange street and going west on Broadway.

TODAY—Larry Smits, Atlanta, writes of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis' pilgrimage to the mountain after which he was named, and on other topics.

TOMORROW—Duke N. Parry, of Tokio, tells about the opening of the tourist season in Japan.

By LARRY SMITS
For International News Service

ATLANTA, Ga., April 25.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the stern mahout who keeps organized baseball in the paths of righteousness, stopped off in Atlanta, en route to his home in Chicago, for a look at the piece of topography from which he derives two-thirds of his name. It's in the nature of an annual trip, made when the judge is returning from a swing around the southern training camps.

He found Kenesaw mountain lying twenty-two miles, as the flivver flies, northwest of Atlanta, in practically the same condition as it was on his previous visits—an abrupt but appealing structure, rearing its vine-clad height suddenly from the smooth face of the surrounding Georgian plain. Like his father, who became so attached to the mountain when he fought there as a Union soldier that he named his son for it, Judge Landis seems to gain inspiration from his annual visit.

Head bare, he stands on the hill over which gray and blue forces once fought, his sharp gaze afar, while the winds sigh through the mountain pines in solemn obligato to his thoughts. As audience during the rites, the judge this trip had the mayor of Marietta, Ga., and a few leading residents of that city.

One of these, a realtor, served as guide, and recounted again for the judge the story he undoubtedly heard from his father, the account of the Sherman campaign, of which Kenesaw mountain battle was a part.

It was related in rich, southern dialect, and with possibly a few side-lights that Judge Landis' Union soldier daddy had never thrown upon it.

The lash has passed from Georgia prison camps.

Other and milder forms of punishment have been approved by Governor Hardwick, after a conference with Judge T. E. Patterson, of the Georgia Prison Commission.

The suggestion that prisoners be shackled in a standing position with their hands above their heads, held by some to be even more terrible torture than the cat-o'-nine-tails across a naked back, was rejected.

Instead, county wardens must keep discipline by the following methods:

Solitary confinement.

Restriction of diet.

Restriction of the privilege of receiving visitors.

Use of shackles and striped clothing.

Criticism of the abolishment by executive order of the practice of whipping unruly prisoners was expressed at a convention of county wardens recently.

Governor Hardwick took the meeting sharply to task for the criticism, and for its conviction that discipline among prisoners could be maintained by severe cruelty alone.

Atlanta plans an atavistic reception to Kiwanians of the United States and Canada when they assemble here for their international convention, May 28 to 31.

It will be a "throw-back" to the Old South.

Visitors to this section of the country, in manner similar to visitors anywhere, whether it be South Clark street or Greenwich Village, or the Montmartre in that dead Paris which so many of the A. E. F. have mentioned casually, these visitors have a habit of asking: "Where is this Old South we've read about?"

And like the old days in any of the mentioned localities, days of the Old South have passed, oh, a couple of generations ago.

They will be brought back, for the Kiwanians' diversion.

Atlanta will build an old plantation within the city limits, fit it with ante-bellum negroes and small editions of same, and, together with the picaninnies and the rest of the cast, will set a background such as the song writers depend on—watermelons, cotton fields and the like.

Cotton will not be open in its nude or natural state in the fields that early in the season, but the state has been scoured for stalks of the last year's crop to furnish the fields of snowy white so often and melodiously mentioned.

There will be a chorus of cotton-picking negroes to sing old-fashioned darky songs.

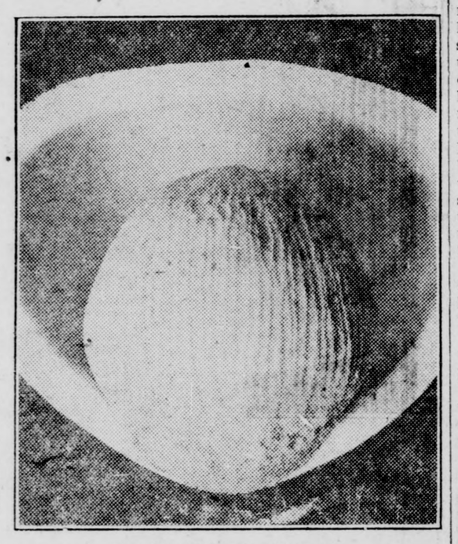
SCIENCE and INVENTION By Arthur Budd

COCOANUT APPLES

DID YOU ever see a "coconut apple?"

Probably not unless you have visited the tropics.

When a coconut begins to germinate, the germ inside of it develops into a growth of spongy texture resembling an apple in form. Botanists call it a "cotyledon." In the tropics coconuts that have reached this stage are sometimes chopped open, and the cotyledons, which may be as big as good-sized apples, are utilized as a vegetable, being cooked in various ways.



The Apple in the Coconut

The immature coconut contains a milky fluid which assumes a limpid, watery appearance by the time the fruit is ripe. If allowed to develop the "apple" absorbs this fluid and also the white "meat" that lines the shell. Then the huge seed is ready to sprout—the sprouts emerging through the three little holes which make what small boys call the "monkey face" at the small end.

In the South Seas and other regions where the nuts grow, what is known as "coconut milk," is a mixture of the above-mentioned watery fluid with the grated kernel, the result being a product of creamy consistency which may be eaten with sugar or used in the preparation of cakes and desserts.

The coconut palm is the most useful plant in the world. It furnishes practically all the necessaries of life. Houses are thatched with its leaves, which also yield material for baskets and hats. The fiber of the husk which contains the nut is utilized for cordage, mats, brushes, and stuffing for mattresses. From the shells are made lamps and drinking vessels, and the "meats" supply soap and candles.

We imported last year about 250,000 tons of coconut meats—known commercially as "copra"—and 130,000 tons of coconut oil. The bulk of the copra imported is pressed for oil in this country.

Nearly half of the copra comes from the Philippine Islands; also great quantities of whole coconuts. But we get many millions of the nuts annually from Porto Rico, Jamaica and Trinidad, on which islands trees are cultivated in great plantations. In Trinidad alone there are 27,000 acres of coconut trees.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CEILING FALLS

"Clatter! Clash! Bang!"

That was the startling sound Uncle Wiggily heard one morning as he sat in his hollow stump bungalow, getting ready to go adventuring.

"But the noise makes me think perhaps there's an adventure right here at home," whispered the bunny uncle. "I say, Nurse Jane," he called, "have you fallen down stairs, or anything like that?"

"No, Wiggy, I haven't fallen down stairs, but the ceiling has fallen," sighed the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"My goodness! The ceiling fallen!" gasped Uncle Wiggily. "I hope it didn't fall on you, Nurse Jane."

"Well, part of it did," answered the muskrat lady. "I will not keep it from you, Uncle Wiggily. Part of the ceiling fell on me!"

Uncle Wiggily lost no more time asking questions. Out to the kitchen he skipped and there a sorrowful sight met his eyes. The plaster from the roof, or ceiling, had fallen down all over everything, and some fell on Nurse Jane, who was washing the breakfast dishes.

"But don't look so worried!" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Only a few little pieces struck me. But what will you do for a new ceiling?"

"That is a small matter, as long as you are not hurt," kindly replied the bunny gentleman. "I'll go get Grandpa Whackum, the beaver, and he will soon plaster on a new mud ceiling for us. But, oh, such a terrible lot of dirt in your kitchen, Janie!"

"Don't worry about that," spoke the muskrat lady cheerfully. "I'll get in Mrs. Wibblewobble, the duck, and Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, and we'll soon clean up this dirt."

"Then I'll go get Grandpa Whackum," offered Uncle Wiggily, and soon he was on his way to the pond where the beaver folk lived. Beavers, you know, are the masons and carpenters of Woodland. The beavers build dams of sticks and stones, plastering them tight with mud. They make a dam across a stream and, thus holding back the water, they make a deep pond. In this pond they build their houses, shaped like old-fashioned bee hives. When the beavers use mud with which to plaster they are like masons. And when, with their sharp teeth, they cut down big trees to use in their dam, they are carpenters.

"Oh, Grandpa Whackum!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily as soon as he saw the beaver gentleman. "My ceiling has fallen!"

"Ha! That's too bad! Then we must plaster it up again for you," said Grandpa Whackum. Waddling down to the pond, he whacked his broad, flat tail, like a mason's trowel, on the water, making a loud sound. This sound is the danger, or attention call, and at once many beavers came running up. Toodle and Noodle Flat Tail, the beaver boys, were there.

"Friends, we must all go to Uncle Wiggily's bungalow!" said Grandpa Whackum, "and plaster up his fallen ceiling. Come along!"

So the beaver folk went to the hollow stump bungalow. While some mixed up mud, water and dried grass into mortar, other beavers took wads of this queer plaster in their front paws and, holding it against their chests, took it into the house. Beavers do not, as you might suppose, use their flat tails for plaster work. The tail looks like a mason's trowel, but it is never used for that work. The beavers only use their tails for swimming, and very fast they go, indeed.

But even without using their tails to plaster with they soon had covered nearly all the bunny gentleman's ceiling as good as new. True, the plaster was only brown mud.

"But when it dries you can paint it, Uncle Wiggily, and make it look very stylish," said Nurse Jane.

"Oh, Grandpa Whackum!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, I can do that," said the bunny. The beaver folk had the ceiling nearly plastered back on again, climbing up on ladders made of tree branches, when, all of a sudden, Toodle cried:

"Here comes the Skillery Scallery Alligator!" And, surely enough, that bad chap with the double jointed tail was crawling along. The 'Gator had heard about the fallen ceiling and said to himself:

"The bungalow will be all in confusion. It will be a good chance for me to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears. "I'll go do it!"

But Toodle saw the 'Gator coming and he and Noodle and the other beaver folk threw wads of plaster mud in the Alligator's eyes so that he couldn't see where he was going. He bumped into a tree stump, the 'Gator did, and he banged his nose and cried:

"Wow! This is no place for me!" Then he crawled off, and so he didn't nibble the bunny's ears after all. Then the plastering of the ceiling was finished and Nurse Jane gave the beavers lemonade short cake.

And if the eggbeater doesn't whirl around so fast that it gets dizzy and falls out of the cat's cradle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Tippy's top.

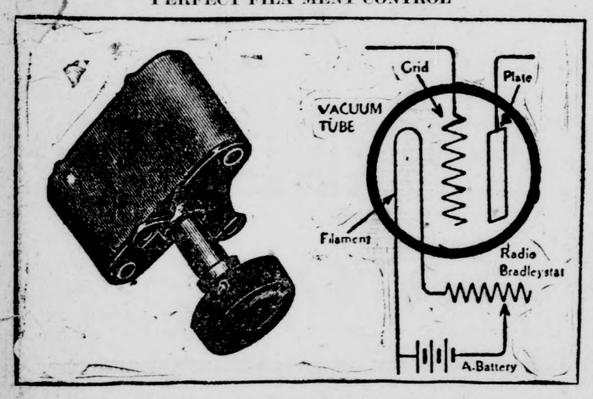
PERFECT FILA MENT CONTROL



Detector and amplifier vacuum tubes work at highest efficiency when their filaments are at precisely the correct temperature. If the filament temperature is just a trifle above this point the effect of the tube is greatly affected and reduced.

It is essential that your radio equipment be provided with efficient means of vacuum filament control.

The illustration shows a very reliable graphite compression rheostat that is something new in its line. It consists of a column of specially treated graphite disks through which the current flows.

Pressure is applied to the graphite column with a screw, which varies the resistance very finely without steps and jumps usually found in wire-wound resistances.

Chicago Stock Yards Fire Loss $350,000

CHICAGO, April 25.—Flames which had been smouldering throughout the night, broke out again at the stock yards here yesterday and caused an approximate loss of $350,000 to two plants of Morris & Company. The blaze was finally subdued. Two firemen were burned, but not seriously, it was said.

Matches were unknown to our great-grandparents.

U S AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

CURRENT CONTROL AND RESISTANCE

The name rheostat is, in general, applied to a samilar device as that described in the preceding article, but with a larger current-carrying capacity and a smaller range. Its coils are usually open to the air and it may be continuously adjusted or by steps or, again, it may be fixed in value. Others are made to rotate and with the coils embedded in a hard insulating material.

The familiar group of grids beneath the floor of street cars is a good example of rheostats of a certain class. The individual units are not accurately measured and marked as they are in resistance boxes, previously described, as it is not usually necessary to know the values of the separate steps. A frequently used resister for large currents is made by immersing plates in a tank of a conducting liquid. Adjustments are made by varying the distance between the plates. For smaller ranges the carbon compression rheostat is much used in radio and laboratory work. In this type a number of carbon plates are brought into more or less intimate contact by variable screw pressure.

Resisters of single fixed values are convenient for many purposes. If they are carefully made and measured they are often called standard resistance coils. Such standards may be secured in range from 0.00001 ohm. to 100,000 ohms., and of any desired current-carrying capacity and degree of precision.

Banks of incandescent lamps in various arrangements are often used as resisters. The resistance of such lamps is subject to large variations in value with changes in temperature. However, when operating under steady conditions, whether hot or cold, they are satisfactory for many purposes. Such a rheostat offers the advantage of being readily adjustable by turning the individual lamps off or on. They are generally used in laboratory work or to replace a burnt out rheostat.

WAGE INCREASE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Voluntary wage increases for officers, engineers and seamen employed on the 150 steam schooners operated by the Steamship Owners' Association of the Pacific were announced today to be effective May 1. Officers were increased $10 a month.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

RECIPROCITY DAY IS BIG SUCCESS

Many Visitors Present At Annual Luncheon and Social Gathering

table sat Mesdames Mattison B. Jones, C. E. Hutchinson, A. W. Tower and H. E. Bartlett, past presidents of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

A pleasing part of the informality of the luncheon hour was the community singing, led by Hugo Kirchhofer, accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Boyer.

It was during the latter part of the luncheon that Mrs. Campbell happily introduced the guests of honor, all of whom responded graciously, complimenting the Tuesday Afternoon club on its splendid new home.

Mrs. Lobingier was the first introduced, and she told of the undertaking before the Friday Morning club in building its new home.

Mrs. Burdette was the next speaker, and she also took occasion to compliment Mrs. Campbell and the club members on the new club house.

Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, who was the speaker when the corner stone of the building was laid, also spoke.

There was but one regret voiced, and that was upon the absence of Mrs. John C. Urquhart, retiring president of the Los Angeles district federation, who was unable to be present because of her husband's ill health.

Her vice-president, Mrs. J. S. Trewhella, spoke on her behalf, and was intrusted with a message from the company to Mrs. Urquhart.

Short Program

Others introduced by Mrs. Campbell were Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice president and chairman of ways and means of the Tuesday Afternoon club; and Mrs. R. E. Chase, curator of the Drama Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and chairman of drama of the Los Angeles district; Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. A. W. Tower and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, past presidents of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Upon being presented Mrs. Jones paid fine tribute to Mrs. Campbell.

After the luncheon hour club members and guests withdrew to the auditorium, where they were joined by other club members for an hour of community singing, a club session and a short program.

Seated upon the stage were Mesdames Burdette, Exley, Trewhella, Lobingier, the honored guests; Mesdames H. E. Bartlett, A. W. Tower, R. A. Blackburn, C. E. Hutchinson and Mattison B. Jones, past presidents; and Mesdames R. E. Chase, W. E. Evans, A. H. Montgomery, Lillian Dow, C. W. Houston, John Dunn and Daniel Campbell.

With the leading of the salute to the flag by Mrs. Lillian Dow, patriotic chairman, the club meeting was opened by Mrs. Campbell.

Open In Summer

Features of the meeting were the announcement by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means, that she had a check for $500 raised during a period of six weeks, to turn over to the treasurer; the announcement by Mrs. Campbell that 100 life members have been secured and that life memberships hereafter will be $250; the announcement that Mesdames Campbell, R. W. Meeker and Mattison B. Jones will represent the club at the state convention at Eureka; the announcement that an honorary life membership is to be conferred on Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, past president and chairman of the building committee.

It was also made known that the clubhouse is to be kept open during the summer months and that provision for its maintenance is to be made through raising the initiation fees.

In announcing the gifts Mrs. Campbell stated that Mrs. McQuiston had given the club two card tables and ten packs of cards; that Mrs. Ella Richardson had secured a whole row of chairs in the auditorium; that Mrs. Thomas Thornton had given the club a candelabrum.

The most important gift is a memorial to the late Mrs. Eugene C. Frank, two torcheres for either side of the auditorium stage, given by Mrs. Alice Frank James and Harrison Frank. The torcheres are to be of wrought iron and will harmonize perfectly with the design of the auditorium.

Mrs. Campbell also announced that through the courtesy of Mr. Lockwood the Italian tea room furniture had been redone to the satisfactory shade.

Hope for Happiness

In taking her departure, Mrs. Burdette expressed wishes for prosperity and happiness for the club and stated that it would be a pleasure to her to spend a whole afternoon as guest and speaker of the club women.

The club members were particularly interested in the report given by Mrs. Campbell that the club board had secured Mrs. A. A. Barton to serve as secretary-hostess at the clubhouse, where she can be reached on the telephone and will be prepard to answer all questions pertaining to club affairs.

Mrs. Campbell also stated that the club has offered the use of the clubhouse one night a week to the Glendale Community Service, of which Val M. Hollister is president.

Entertainment of the afternoon was a talented program presented by Madame Teodora Wisniewska, coloratura soprano; Mrs. Gladys Burch Dale, violinist, and William E. Hullinger, flutist, accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb. These artists have organized themselves under the name" The Madeline Quartet,"

NORTHWEST FOLKS HOLD BIG RALLY

Community Celebration Big Event; Program Proves Complete Success

buns and pickles were served; and so large was the gathering and so healthy the appetites, particularly among the young folks, that a hurry call had to be sent for more rations.

However, reinforcements were brought forward in time to save the food trenches and everything went smoothly and everyone had all they could eat. When the throng finally began to break up and disperse, at a late hour, there was not one who did not go home with a heart warmer than before and a feeling of greater kindliness and good-will toward his neighbor.

Among those responsible for making the affair such an outstanding success are Mrs. C. Ellsperman and Mrs. O. G. Thompson, who made arrangements for the wood used in the bonfire, getting a number of local merchants to contribute their old boxes and other combustible material.

O. G. Thompson and James Connor very kindly gave the services of themselves and their trucks in collecting this wood. The boys of the school, also, worked hard in collecting wood and come in for warm thanks on the part of those in charge, while G. N. Fitch, who did such valiant service in preparing the wieners, putting them painlessly to death and softening their last moments, also was warmly praised by the association.

H. W. Hollenbeck, chairman of the wood committee and donator of the pickles, is also a recipient of thanks from those in charge, his interest in the event and help in making it a success having been considerable.

The physical drill, led by Miss Joy Person, was a class trained by Miss Vera Sinclair, principal of the school.

Harding to Attempt To Get Party Peace

clear that the international court of justice, from his point of view, had no connection with the league, and that his administration would not take the United States into the league, even if the senate should decide otherwise.

See Some Hope

On the other hand, Democratic senators, who have expressed approval of the Harding-Hughes-Hoover world court plan, saw in Mr. Harding's speech some hope for eventual American participation in the councils at Geneva. They pointed to the president's elimination of the "side door, the back door and the cellar door" as places for American entry, approved this policy, but insisted that the front door still remained, with participation in The Hague court as the first and preliminary step.

All discussion of the president's speech, however, was not critical.

Friends of the court plan believe Mr. Harding played good politics by giving the country a clear-cut explanation of his aspirations with respect to this country's international political activities and looked upon the address as the opening gun in a nationwide campaign to win support for the administration's proposal.

They plan to lay down a barrage of publicity with the object of wiping out much of the senatorial opposition by convincing the people that the president is right and deserves support.

And other arteries were mentioned, to show that San Fernando road has no monopoly on Los Angeles and Burbank-bound traffic.

Majority in Favor

Costs of road widening were brought up and many other phases of the problem discussed by the various men and women honoring Mrs. Madeline Kelly, club program chairman.

Following the program, punch and wafers were served in the tea room.

INTEREST GROWS IN DRAMA PLANS

Three Plays Will Be Given By Drama Members of Tuesday Club

As the time approaches for the presentation of the three one-act plays to be given Friday and Saturday nights of this week in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by members of the drama section of the club, interest is being stimulated among club members and friends.

Mrs. Raymond E. Chase, curator of the club Drama Section, and also district chairman of drama of the Los Angeles club federation, is directing and also taking part in the presentation, and the three casts include prominent club members.

Proceeds are to go toward the purchase of the Terry cloth curtains and back drop provided by the Drama Section for the clubhouse auditorium stage.

The plays to be given are "The Dream Maker," a fantasy by Blanche Jenning Thompson; "The New Crusade," a hilarious comedy by Rachel Baker Gale; and "Finders Keepers," a tense dramatic playlet by George Kelly.

"The Dream Maker"

Included in the cast will be:

Pierrot, Mrs. W. F. Nash, Jr.

Pierrette, Mrs. Charles Gowan.

Old Man of the Moon, Mrs. H. C. Vandewater.

Old Woman of the Moon, Mrs. W. F. Nash, Sr.

First Moon Maiden, Mrs. Chester Kling.

Second Moon Maiden, Mrs. Harry Lockwood.

Third Moon Maiden, Mrs. W. E. Halstead.

First Star Maiden, Mrs. L. E. Gates.

Second Star Maiden, Mrs. R. K. Snow.

Third Star Maiden, Mrs. A. L. Ferguson.

A Spinner of Songs, Mrs. William Hopkins, harpist.

"The New Crusade"

This sketch deals with the servant problem. It is a satire on this popular problem and is carried out in hilarious comedy. There are two scenes, one in an employment office and the other in the kitchen of Mrs. Brown's home.

The cast includes:

Miss Morris, Mrs. Max Green.

Mrs. Cogswell Brown, Mrs. Charles Homer Temple.

Mrs. Potter Hewitt, Mrs. Roy L. Kent.

Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. E. A. Bode.

Mrs. Archibald Tracy, Mrs. A. L. Ferguson.

Bridget Mahoney, Mrs. Ray Galvin.

Mary McGuire, Mrs. C. J. Newcomb.

Steena Olsen, Mrs. H. D. Goss.

Cassie Clay, Mrs. W. F. Nash. Jr.

Jennie Burch, Mrs. L. E. Gates.

Matilda Johnson. Mrs. Colin Cable.

"Merry," Mrs. Malvern Barker.

The tense dramatic element will be introduced by this final play by George Kelly. It deals with the psychology of honesty and was first presented at the Palace theatre in New York city.

In the cast are:

Eugene Aldrid, Dr. R. E. Chase.

Mrs. Aldrid, his wife, Mrs. R. E. Chase.

Mrs. Hampton, a neighbor, Mrs. Malvern Barker.

Mr. Kelly has written many plays, among them being "Mrs. Ritter Appears," in which Mrs. Chase appeared in the east. This play has been rewritten and is now playing as "The Torch Bearers," a three-act comedy, at Tremont theatre, Boston.

assembled, in the end two points being brought out clearly—that the preponderant majority were in favor of widening San Fernando road, matters of where and when and how being the contention points; and that the establishment of a setback line could be ordained by the City Council, without instituting condemnation proceedings, and would meet with general approval.

It was at this point that Dr. Mabry, seeing that the psychological moment had arrived when the assemblage was in accord, rose and made the motion whose quick adoption brought to a close a meeting that resembled in many ways a day in April—clouds, showers and sunshine.

BUYERS RUSH TO PURCHASE SITES

Suburban Realty Co. to Sell Second Half of Unit No. 2 Next Saturday

Brand's Castle, the world-famous spot of Glendale, is rapidly re-entering the field of publicity, according to Harold Blackmore, of the Suburban Realty company.

"Two weeks ago," said Mr. Blackmore, "we advertised our first big sale of homesites in Suburban Heights. Our first unit was completely sold out in six days, and last week we offered specially desirable homesites in Unit No. 2 and at some extraordinarily low prices. Last Tuesday we had a letter from a San Francisco business man, enclosing a check as a deposit on any one lot, to be selected by us, and held until his arrival in Glendale, early in May. Yesterday we received a similar letter and check from a party in Salt Lake City, who had selected a homesite from one of our maps.

"Both of these people knew all about the wonderful location, excellent climate and grand view obtainable from the location of Brand's Castle, and considered a homesite anywhere in that neighborhood worth twice as much as our special sales price.

Easy of Access

"In view of the fact that there is already good and quick transportation to within two blocks of Suburban Heights, and that the new motor bus line will pass right through the property, every one of the homesites offered by this company today is very conservatively priced, especially when the excellent type of street improvements, gas, water, light, etc., are paid for by the owners.

"Next Saturday we will place the other half of Unit No. 2 on the market," concluded Mr. Blackmore. "These especially desirable homesites will be sold on the same attractive terms as at last week's sale, allowing a very handsome profit-margin for early buyers."

REALTY BUSINESS CHANGES OWNERS

White & Rice Interests Are Taken Over by Firm of Finlay & Hart

The sale of the real estate business of White & Rice, 131 South Brand boulevard, to H. L. Finlay and L. A. Hart has been consummated this week, according to an announcement made this morning, and the new owners have already moved into the office and are conducting the business on their own account.

He will assume charge of the real estate department of the firm, while Mr. Hart will devote his entire attention to the securities and investment side of the business.

Mr. Hart has been engaged in the real estate business here for some time, having conducted the Hart Realty company on East Broadway ,and his intimate knowledge of local realty conditions, as well as financial, is regarded as a distinct asset to the new concern.

Board of Education Study School Plans

The Grammar School Board of Education met last night in its offices at 109-A South Brand boulevard and discussed subjects of interest to the local school system.

The building program was one of the principal topics under consideration. Architect George M. Lindsey of 345 North Harvey drive submitted preliminary plans for the addition to the Central school. BURBANK

SEEKS MEN FOR RESERVE FORCES

Burbank Flyers Urged to Continue Activity In U. S. Air Service

The number of Burbank young men who became proficient flyers during the war are urged by Lt. Harry B. Watson to affiliate with the reserve forces and keep their hands in at aviation.

"In addition," says Lieutenant Watson, "the public in general should in every way encourage this great American invention that has been such an infant prodigy, helping it through this critical period into its coming of age, so to speak."

This appeal to the Burbank public, coming from Lieutenant Wilson, carries with it the weight of his membership in the National Aeronautic association of the U. S. A., an organization devoted to accomplishing its slogan, "America First in the Air."

Lieutenant Watson is a prominent Burbank business man, and is Captain of Laison, 513th Observation Squadron, with headquarters at U. S. Air Service Reserve, Clover Field, Santa Monica.

Lieutenant Watson participated in the recent maneuvers connected with the dedication of Clover field, as did Rubert Malone, teller of a local bank. The Lieutenant also attended the recent banquet given at the Hotel Miramar, Santa Monica, at which Major Pattrick was present, having flown from Washington, D. C., especially for the occasion.

The major spoke with high praise for the fine work of Californian aviators, Lieutenant Watson reports, stating that this country holds every world's record, including those for altitude, speed and endurance. "Our flyers," he said, "are unquestionably the best in the world, but there are not enough of them. It is the duty of every patriotic citizen to get behind the movement to increase the air forces of the country—as they are to become our first line of defense in the years ahead."

Citizens Training Camp

Further military news of interest to young men of Burbank is contained in the announcement that a Citizens Military Training camp opens at Del Monte, July 26, and continues for a month, closing August 24.

The allotment for Los Angeles county at this camp is 232 men, so those who are interested in having Burbank represented urge that all applications be turned in without delay, to Captain Grove Ketchum, commanding officer of Company C, 316th Combat Engineers, with headquarters in Los Angeles; or to R. W. Colburn, Chamber of Commerce office.

It is announced that each camp will have a complete staff of instructors and that cadets will have everything for their comfort provided, including uniforms, medical attention, transportation to and from camp, etc.

The corps include infantry, field artillery, cavalry, engineers, and signal corps, and there will be military drills, physical instruction, athletics and amusements, not to mention meals, which may be construed by many as quite important.

These camps, their advocates point out, offer excellent opportunity for young and middle-aged men to get back into the pink of physical condition, in addition to acquiring knowledge that will make them valuable to the country in time of war.

One of the most unique features about the new armory is its doors. These entrance gates, though they have been made to look very ancient, are said to be just as young as the rest of the building, the aging effect being accomplished by going over the rough-finished doors with a plumber's torch, to the extent of slightly charring the surface, after which a coat of white stain is administered, with a top coat of varnish—result, a 100-year-old door.

Pola Negri Picture Feature at Glendale

Pola Negri, in "Mad Love," a Goldwyn film, is to be seen at the Glendale Theatre today and tomorrow. The story is one of high drama, telling of the love of two brothers for a notorious woman, Sappho, played by Pola Negri.

But, fascinating as is the story, it is the magnetic appeal of this great dramatic star that grips one the most. That she is the screen's supreme actress, is becoming more evident with every new picture of hers that comes to American audiences.

Pola Negri is a woman of delicate beeding and great culture, being a Polish countess, the wife tor a number of years of Count Domski. It is perhaps not well known that her real name is Appolonia, "Negri" being the name of her favorite poet, Ada Negri.

Physicial Instructor Resigns School Post

Albert H. Blanford, supervisor of physical education for the local grammar school system, has informed Richardson D. White, superintendent of the local school system, that he has accepted a position as supervisor for the two schools to be in operation next term in the Crescenta School district. He stated that he regards the future brighter in supervisory work. Mr. White stated this morning that the board has no one in mind to succeed him.

MONTROSE

REALTY MARKET CONTINUES BRISK

Sparr Heights Reports Some Recent Sales; New Drug Store is Planned

"Sales are very good; they are holding right up!" excaimed H. E. Barnum of the realty firm of Barnum & Walters Company yesterday afternoon commenting on the continuing popularity of Sparr Heights.

Records show that $12,000 worth of property were sold by this company Saturday, $22,000 Sunday and $14,600 Monday. These are regarded as normal days. The average value of sales for the week, according to Mr. Barnum, is over $60,000.

"Sales are very good," he remarked. "They are very steady."

C. J. Stahlberg of Glendale has announced his intention of erecting an $18,000 apartment and store building on the east side of Verdugo road about a block north of the Anderson and Tupper Garage.

New Drug Store

G. H. Aschmann, formerly from Los Angeles where he has returned from Denver has purchased a site in Sparr Heights for a new drug store. This is located on the southeast corner of Verdugo road and Ocean View avenue. The price paid was $2500. Construction, it is understood, will start immediately.

Eugene Killion's barbeque stand at 2101 North Verdugo road is now open for business. It is in charge of W. L. Gammill, who has had extensive experience in this line in South Dakota and Missouri. In front of the open air kitchen, which is screened in, is a cement porch about 30 by 20 feet in size which is covered by an awning. Tables will be placed on this porch for the summer trade.

To avoid confusion in identity with the Montrose Service Station, which is operated by Lee Mead, F. J. Sweeny, new proprietor of the Montrose Garage, has decided to change its name to the Sweeny Service Station.

Contractor F. L. Howard of 327 South Briggs street now has the skeleton framework up for Theo. Belanger's new pharmacy. This is being built on the northwest corner of Honolulu and Montrose avenues.

BROTHERHOOD OF WORLD IS TOPIC

Church Speaker Challenges Hearers to Exercise Power for Good

The First Methodist Episcopal church Brotherhood scored another big success at their recent monthly banquet, it is reported, more than 100 being present.

The meeting was held in the social hall of the church, with the principal speaker Dr. Haywood, of the Wilshire Methodist Episcopal church, who chose for his topic "World Brotherhood," having recently returned from an extended tour of foreign lands, particularly Europe.

Dr. Haywood touched upon place after place of world interest, and many personalities of renowned influence, among them Constantinople, Palestine, Egypt, the Sudan and Nile, Greece, the home of Plato, Demosthenes and Aristotle. Then there were David Lloyd George and the House of Commons, Waterloo and the well-remembered spots of sorrow and at the same time glory of the late World War.

Calls to Service

A challenge was then thrown out by Dr. Haywood to every true Christian American, urging the exercise of his civic duty to preserve the world, urging each to greater endeavor for the emancipation of the world, importuning each to answer God's call for the world's redemption.

Besides the main discourse, there were several musical numbers and a short talk by R. E. Smith, advertising manager of the Southern California Edison Company, on "The Theory of Relativity." Mr. Smith declared that "The theory is very simple, and so is anyone who believes it!"

These meetings are held the third Friday of each month and a cordial invitation is extended all the men of Glendale to take advantage of the worth-while hour or two afforded. Next month is going to be a special night for the women, as well as men, when Dr. Faris of San Diego will give his famous word picturization of "Some Men of the Hills."

Dressmaking School Will Open Tomorrow

The New Method Dressmaking school opening tomorrow at 522 East Broadway is to offer Glendale women unusual opportunities in every line of needlework activity.

It is to be a school where the home sewer can have help with her dress cutting, fitting and finishing under the direction of an expert instructor.

Classes are to be held from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6:30 o'clock in the evening and special classes are being planned for Saturday.

LA CRESCENTA

BENEFIT TO AID BUILDING FUND

Program Is Complete for Concert to Be Given at La Crescenta

A concert for the benefit of the Community church building fund will be given tonight, in the La Crescenta school auditorium. A male quartet consisting of Messrs. Knott, Chenowith, Johnson and Den, all of Pasadena, promises some very fine numbers.

Clarence Den is well known as the baritone soloist of the Trinity Lutheran church of Pasadena.

Mrs. Daisy Sprague of the First Presbyterian church and a pupil of Mrs. Nettie Hibler will no doubt charm us with her strong soprano voice.

Miss Dorothea Stuthman, teacher of piano at the College of music, University of Southern California, will play a group of selected numbers.

Miss Stuthman is well known for her success as a public performer and also for her splendid work as a teacher.

Miss Evelyn Hurd, a clever child reader of Pasadena, will give several humorous readings.

Miss Hurd is an artist in her profession and has a very brilliant future.

Mrs. Josephine Tritt, well known violinist of La Crescenta will play a group of numbers with her usual charm.

Miss Marguerite Hauber of this community and assistant head of elementary and intermediate piano and harmony department U. of Southern Cal., will accompany the soloist and will also play the Mendelssohn Capricio Brillante Concerto for two pianos with Miss Stuthman, who is also Miss Hauber's assistant at the University and at La Crescenta.

List of Patronesses

Patronesses for the affair are Mesdames R. W. Stine, Angier, Burt, Czerniski, Peck, Pritchard, Reynolds, Collins Bickel, Potts, Howard, Potter, Brown, Kelso, Bennett, Larsen, Cox, Wise, Telford, Miller, Carpenter, Hauber and Burkey.

As all of the talented performers are giving their services free, a large attendance will be appreciated, so that a liberal amount may be realized for this most worthy cause. Mrs. A. M. Burkey and Miss Hauber are responsible for this program and tickets may be procured from them at fifty cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Miss Frances Morgan of Tujunga, opened her weekly Tuesday evening class, for adults in ball room dancing, last night at the school auditorium, three couples were in attendance.
